THE THEATRE LAB PRESENTS

The Life Stories Institute

The Life Stories Institute is an intensive learning experience for anyone interested in harnessing the power of the dramatic arts to encourage wellness, inspire empathy, and drive positive self-expression in their community and/or workplace.

Thursday, October 13 – Sunday, October 16, 2022

12 Hour Interactive Online Course Designed to Accommodate Work Schedules
Thursday and Friday, 5-7pm, Saturday and Sunday, 1-5pm

About the Life Stories Institute

- The Life Stories Institute is an extension of The Theatre Lab's award-winning Life Stories Program that teaches participants, often from vulnerable populations, how to create original dramatic works using their own life experiences as inspiration.
- Life Stories Institute attendees will receive the training and tools required to create and teach Life Stories programs in their own communities.
- Since 2000, The Theatre Lab has taught The Life Stories Program in Washington, D.C. to thousands of individuals including seniors in assisted living facilities, women in addiction recovery, veterans, and many more.

Should you attend the Institute?

- The Life Stories Institute is for people of all ages, backgrounds and skill sets. Acting or teaching experience is not required.
- Are you looking to inspire positive professional breakthroughs and growth among your employees or colleagues?
- Do you love the arts and want to make a difference in your community?

- Are you a guidance counselor, life coach or mental health counselor?
- Do you work with individuals from vulnerable groups?
- Are you a teacher looking to incorporate the arts into your lesson plans?
- Are you an actor looking to expand your repertoire and share your passion with others?

The benefits of attending

Over four sessions, the creators of the Life Stories program will guide you through demonstrations, discussions, interactive panels, and your own model teaching session to prepare you to start a program in your own organization or community.

Attendees will also receive:

- Professional networking opportunities
- Ongoing mentoring from The Theatre Lab
- Unlimited access to the Life Stories Institute e-learning platform, featuring the Life Stories Toolkit
